COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The Special Town Meeting will be held tonight. As there are several articles pertaining to zoning there should be a good turn out of voters.

The selectmen have an article to purchase a snow blower mainly for use picking up snow in the village. The loader is used for that purpose now and it is felt the new machine will more than pay by relieving it, plus the time element involved. A blower will handle snow much faster as they do not have to travel from the snow to the truck in the manner a loader does.

Vandals caused considerable expense by damaging the fountain on the Common Sunday morning. The complete fountain was tipped over and the pipe broken. An investigation is underway to apprehend those responsible. It is unfortunate people who witness these events feel they cannot testify for the police.

LOCKE MILLS HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE

MONDAY AFTERNOON

A family of five was made homeless at Locke Mills early Monday afternoon by a fire which is believed to have started from defective wiring that caused damage amounting to several thousand dollars. Firemen of Greenwood and Bethel fought the smoke blare for an hour before bringing it under control. The building, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Smith, was insured.

An employee of the Oxford Paper Company at Remond, Mr. Smith was home on his day off. Smith, offered help, accompanied by his son, Harold, to the scene. Harold informed that his house was safe, he drove home, discovering that neighbors and volunteers had removed much of the furniture and clothing from the building.

Mr. Smith was at work at the Elco Houseware plant on Tuesday when Warren was at work at the Oxford Paper Company and Harold was at a nearby store. Mr. Smith estimated his loss at several thousand dollars. He said that the losses were both fully covered and the insurance on the house, $10,000, is the first. He suffered extensive smoke and water damage.

The fire was discovered shortly after 1 p.m. by Mack Mills, who was working in the Elco plant wood yard. He notified the Greenwood fire department, and the Bethel fire department was also called. Bethel responded with two tank trucks and a tower.

The Smith family picture is located only a short distance from Route 200, the East Bethel Road. State Trooper William G. Baldwin, and members of the Oxford County Sheriff's Department were called to handle the traffic on Route 20.

The fire completely gutted the interior of the ell and slowly worked its way into the rest of the building.

Mr. Smith estimated his loss at several thousand dollars. He said that the losses were both fully covered and the insurance on the house, $10,000, is the first. He suffered extensive smoke and water damage.

In its nine months of operation, the measles program of the Department of Health and Welfare has helped reduce measles incidence by 86.2 per cent, say Dean Fisher, M.D., Commissioner.

Noting that the year 1967 is the first in the usual two year epidemic period, only 233 cases have been reported as compared with an annual count of 2,043 in the 1963-65 epidemic period.

From January to June this year 24,500 preschoolers have been immunized against measles and 20,500 school aged children.

The state's anti-measles program is a four fold approach: distribution of the vaccine surveillance through the epidemic control program in which two related cases are considered an epidemic, information and education program, and the infant immunization control program.

When all present children are immunized and all new born children are restored the measles disease and its often tragic damage will disappear from the scene just as easily as the cold.

Plans for the coming year include reaching the 22,000 new born children in Maine as well as continuation of the

HOWE - OLMISTEAD

The Concord Academy Chapel, Concord, Mass., was the scene, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 19, of the wedding of Miss Jill Bradley Olmstead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Olmstead, Lincoln, Mass., and John Prentice Howe, III, son of Dr. and Mrs. John Howe of Moscow, Idaho.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. Bradford Greeley of South Portland.

Mr. Wirtz, testifying before House General Labor Subcommittee in support of a bill to prohibit age discrimination in employment, gave this information on the job plight of older workers:

"More than three-quarters of a million workers 45 years of age or older are looking for work today and can't find it."

"More than a third of all men who have been unemployed 27 weeks or more—the hard-core unemployed—are over 45, although this group makes up less than a quarter of the work force."

"More than half of the Nation's poor families are headed by persons 45 or over and more than a third by persons 55 or over."

The Labor Secretary noted that the bill under consideration would provide no relief for a man or woman between 45 and 65 who is unable to perform his or her job.

"It provides relief only when a qualified person who is ready and willing to work is unfairly denied or deprived of a job," Mr. Wirtz said.

The Secretary declared that up to age 60 it now appears "there is very little diminution of a person's work productivity in most occupations."

Even after a person passes age 60, he added, "there is such a wide variety of productivity changes that age in itself is not a useful or reliable index of such change."

Mr. Wirtz, testifying before House General Labor Subcommittee in support of a bill to prohibit age discrimination in employment, gave this information on the job plight of older workers:

"More than three-quarters of a million workers 45 years of age or older are looking for work today and can't find it."

"More than a third of all men who have been unemployed 27 weeks or more—the hard-core unemployed—are over 45, although this group makes up less than a quarter of the work force."

"More than half of the Nation's poor families are headed by persons 45 or over and more than a third by persons 55 or over."

The Labor Secretary noted that the bill under consideration would provide no relief for a man or woman between 45 and 65 who is unable to perform his or her job.

"It provides relief only when a qualified person who is ready and willing to work is unfairly denied or deprived of a job," Mr. Wirtz said.
